

Back With a Vengeance

You may remember that I mentioned yesterday that I felt like I was coming down with a UTI. I thought I had gotten rid of it or it was like those times when I have the symptoms of one, but don't actually have one. Anyways, when I got up this morning to nurse Whitney there it was. And it was killer. I was able to get into the dr and get some antibiotics. But, it got worse before it got better. I have never had one this bad before. I will spare you the details. (You're welcome.) I am feeling much better now though. Thank goodness. I didn't know how I would make it through another day of having this to slow me down. I have too much to do, as always. Here's the list: shopping (sam's club & wal-mart), laundry, cleaning up the loft/school room, school for the girls, take care of Whitney, dinner with Daniel. I guess that's not too bad, but it sure seems like a lot to me.
