

My Weekend

There was good and bad this weekend. The good things were that I did get my shopping done, Whitney was taken care of, some laundry got done, Daniel and I went out to dinner, and the loft got cleaned (on Saturday, but it still got cleaned). So here's the bad, we only did 2 hours of school on Friday (due to all the catching up I had to do with my errands) and the dinner out with Daniel made me not feel so good the next morning. So in a way that's good news, no more buffets for us. Other good things, I vacuumed my house (or at least most of it) on Saturday. We spend the weekend with a clean house and I really liked the feeling. We also had Stake Conference this weekend. I was still feeling too yucky on Saturday night, major headache (which I have been having off and on for over a week now), to go to the Adult session of conference. We did go on Sunday and it was wonderful. I did have to take Whitney out a couple times, but Daniel was with the other girls so I didn't have to worry and I could hear better in the Mother's Lounge anyways. I got a lot out of it this time. And then, we came home and spent the day just relaxing and enjoying each other's company. After dinner, we played UNO with the girls and had a great time. We all got beat by a 4 year old the second game. She totally skunked us. We had a great time though. I want more weekends like that.
